

Live Edge/Rough Stock Barn Siding

Live edge reclaimed barn wood is a mix of gray and brown weathered boards and is for clients who are looking for a truly rustic barn wood or for those who have access to equipment to cut and rip material if needed. "Straight off of the barn", this material is still kiln dried, denailed and defected but is not milled to a uniform thickness or cut into straight edges. Because its not processed like our other barn wood options, this reclaimed barn siding is sold at a lower price point. A rustic product that represents the true spirit of using reclaimed building material.
